FRIEND OF THE COURT OFFICE,
Defendants.

COMPLAINT FOR DEPRIVATION OF CIVIL RIGHTS

Plaintiff Andrew J. Pigors, proceeding pro se, files this Complaint against the above-named Defendants and states as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is a civil rights action brought under 42 USC §§ 1983, 1985, and 1986, and the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, seeking redress for the systematic deprivation of Plaintiff's fundamental constitutional rights -- including his fundamental liberty interest in the care, custody, and companionship of his minor daughter, L.D.W. (DOB: November 9, 2022) -- through a pattern of unconstitutional conduct carried out under color of state law.

2. Over a period exceeding two years, Defendants -- acting individually and in concert -- deprived Plaintiff of all parenting time with his daughter for 571+ consecutive days, accomplished through a cascade of ex parte orders entered without notice, without evidentiary hearing, and without the procedural safeguards that the Constitution demands before the state may sever the parent-child bond.
 3. The constitutional violations are not the product of isolated judicial error. They reflect a systematic pattern: 24 of 55 orders (44%) were entered ex parte -- all without notice to Plaintiff -- including five ex parte orders on a single day (August 8, 2025). This pattern, combined with the systematic denial of Plaintiff's motions, the dismissal of six pending motions without adjudication, and evidence of coordinated conduct among Defendants, establishes that Plaintiff's constitutional rights were violated under color of state law.

II. PARTIES

A. Plaintiff

4. Andrew J. Pigors ("Plaintiff" or "Father") is a citizen of the State of Michigan, residing in Muskegon County. Plaintiff is the biological father of L.D.W. (DOB: November 9, 2022).

B. Defendants

5. Hon. Jenny L. McNeill ("Defendant McNeill") is sued in her individual capacity for actions taken in the complete absence of all jurisdiction and/or actions that were non-judicial in character. At all relevant times, Defendant McNeill served as a judge of the 14th Judicial Circuit Court, Muskegon County, Family Division, and presided over Cases No. 2024-001507-DC and 2023-5907-PP. Defendant McNeill acted under color of state law at all relevant times.
 6. Tiffany A. Watson ("Defendant Watson") is a citizen of the State of Michigan, residing in Muskegon County. Defendant Watson is the biological mother of L.D.W. and the defendant in the underlying state custody proceedings. Defendant Watson is named as a co-conspirator under 42 USC §§ 1985 and 1986 for her role in coordinating with state actors to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights.
 7. Pamela Barnes (State Bar No. P55406) ("Defendant Barnes") is an attorney licensed to practice law in the State of Michigan. Defendant Barnes is sued in her individual capacity for actions taken as counsel for Defendant Watson that, in conspiracy with Defendant McNeill, deprived Plaintiff of his constitutional rights. At all relevant times, Defendant Barnes acted under color of state law by wielding the authority of the court system to accomplish the unconstitutional deprivation.
 8. Muskegon County ("Defendant County") is a municipal corporation organized under the laws of the State of Michigan. Defendant County is the governmental entity responsible for the operation of the 14th Judicial Circuit Court and the Friend of the Court Office. Defendant County is liable under Monell v Dep't of Social Services, 436 US 658 (1978), for constitutional violations caused by its policies, customs, or deliberate indifference.
 9. 14th Judicial Circuit Court, Friend of the Court Office ("Defendant FOC") is an office of the 14th Judicial Circuit Court. FOC employees are sued in their official capacity to the extent they implemented unconstitutional policies and in their individual capacity for specific acts of deprivation.

III. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. This Court has subject-matter jurisdiction under 28 USC § 1331 (federal question) and 28 USC § 1343(a)(3) and (4) (civil rights jurisdiction).
 11. Plaintiff's claims arise under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and under 42 USC §§ 1983, 1985, and 1986.
 12. Supplemental jurisdiction exists under 28 USC § 1367 for any state-law claims that are so related to the federal claims as to form part of the same case or controversy.
 13. Venue is proper in the Western District of Michigan, Southern Division under 28 USC § 1391(b) because a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claims occurred in Muskegon County, Michigan, which is within this District.
 14. Declaratory relief is authorized under 28 USC §§ 2201 and 2202.

IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Underlying State Court Proceedings

15. On or about October 15, 2023, a petition for a personal protection order ("PPO") was filed against Plaintiff in Case No. 2023-5907-PP, 14th Judicial Circuit Court, Muskegon County. The PPO case was assigned to Defendant McNeill.
16. On December 4, 2023, Defendant McNeill entered a PPO against Plaintiff without a full adversarial hearing at which Plaintiff had the opportunity to cross-examine witnesses and present rebuttal evidence.
17. On April 1, 2024, Plaintiff filed a Complaint for Custody, Parenting Time, and Child Support in Case No. 2024-001507-DC, 14th Judicial Circuit Court, Muskegon County. The custody case was also assigned to Defendant McNeill.

18. On April 29, 2024, Defendant McNeill entered an ex parte order for custody, parenting time, and child support following a "Facilitative Information Gathering Conference." This order was entered without proper notice to Plaintiff and without the procedural safeguards required by MCR 3.207(C)(2).
19. Between March 26 and May 2, 2024, Defendant Watson withheld L.D.W. from Plaintiff for 37 consecutive days in violation of court-ordered parenting time. Defendant McNeill took no enforcement action against Defendant Watson.
20. On August 23, 2024, Defendant McNeill entered a Final Judgment granting Defendant Watson sole legal and sole physical custody of L.D.W. This Final Judgment was entered:
 - (a) Without a full evidentiary hearing with sworn testimony subject to cross-examination;
 - (b) Without particularized findings on each of the twelve best-interest factors under MCL 722.23;
 - (c) Without a finding supported by clear and convincing evidence that parenting time with Plaintiff would endanger L.D.W.;
 - (d) While simultaneously dismissing six (6) of Plaintiff's pending motions without hearing or adjudication on the merits.

B. The August 8, 2025 Ex Parte Orders

21. On August 8, 2025, Defendant McNeill entered five (5) separate ex parte orders on a single day, all without notice to Plaintiff. These orders included the suspension of all of Plaintiff's parenting time with L.D.W.
22. Plaintiff was not served with the ex parte motion or any of the five orders before they were entered. Plaintiff arrived at the scheduled parenting time exchange on August 8, 2025, expecting his regular parenting time. He discovered the suspension only after the missed exchange -- by contacting the court himself.

23. The ex parte motion filed by Defendant Watson (through Defendant Barnes) did not contain a verified statement of facts demonstrating that immediate and irreparable injury would result from the delay required to provide notice, as required by MCR 3.207(C)(2).
24. The ex parte motion relied on Defendant Watson's unsworn allegations regarding Plaintiff's phone calls. These allegations did not rise to the level of immediate and irreparable injury required for ex parte relief.

C. Continuation of Unconstitutional Deprivation

25. On September 9, 2025, Defendant McNeill entered an order continuing the suspension of Plaintiff's parenting time.
26. On October 8, 2025, Defendant McNeill entered another order continuing the suspension.
27. On November 26, 2025, a hearing was held at which Defendant McNeill denied Plaintiff's objection to the ex parte order and continued the suspension of parenting time.
28. As of the date of this filing, Plaintiff has been denied all contact with L.D.W. for 571+ consecutive days.

D. Pattern of Judicial Misconduct

29. Analysis of the complete lower court record reveals the following pattern:
 - 24 of 55 orders (44%) were entered on an ex parte basis, all without notice to Plaintiff.
 - All 24 ex parte orders were entered by Defendant McNeill.
 - Five ex parte orders were entered on August 8, 2025 alone.
 - Plaintiff's motions were systematically denied while Defendant Watson's motions were systematically granted.
 - Six pending motions were dismissed without adjudication in the August 23, 2024 Final Judgment.

- The trial court never conducted a full evidentiary hearing with sworn testimony subject to cross-examination on the merits of custody or parenting time.
30. This pattern demonstrates that Defendant McNeill's conduct was not the exercise of legitimate judicial discretion but rather a systematic deprivation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights carried out under color of state law.

E. Conspiracy Allegations

31. Defendant Watson and Defendant Barnes, acting in concert with Defendant McNeill, engaged in a coordinated campaign to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights:
- Defendant Watson filed false allegations as the basis for ex parte motions.
 - Defendant Barnes, as Watson's attorney, drafted and filed ex parte motions that did not meet the legal standard for ex parte relief, knowing they would be granted by Defendant McNeill without scrutiny.
 - Defendant McNeill granted these deficient ex parte motions without requiring verification or compliance with MCR 3.207(C)(2).
 - The coordinated effect was to systematically exclude Plaintiff from the proceedings and from his child's life.
32. The conspiracy is evidenced by:
- The consistent pattern of ex parte filings by Defendants Watson/Barnes being granted without scrutiny by Defendant McNeill.
 - The asymmetric treatment of the parties -- Watson's motions granted, Pigors' motions denied.
 - The August 8, 2025 coordinated action: Watson/Barnes filed an ex parte motion, McNeill entered five orders, and Plaintiff was ambushed at the parenting exchange with no prior notice.
 - Evidence from the litigation database documenting 2,512 conspiracy timeline events and coordinated conduct among Defendants.

F. Monell Allegations Against Muskegon County

33. Muskegon County, as the governmental entity operating the 14th Judicial Circuit Court and the Friend of the Court Office, is liable under Monell v Dep't of Social Services, 436 US 658 (1978), because:
- (a) The County maintained a policy or custom of permitting ex parte orders in family court without adequate safeguards;
 - (b) The County maintained a policy or custom of not conducting evidentiary hearings before entering orders that completely sever parenting time;
 - (c) The County exhibited deliberate indifference to the constitutional rights of litigants by failing to train, supervise, or discipline judicial officers who engage in patterns of ex parte abuse;
 - (d) The FOC recommended or implemented orders that deprived Plaintiff of constitutional rights without adequate process.
34. The County's failure to establish and enforce policies requiring compliance with due process in family court proceedings was the moving force behind the constitutional violations suffered by Plaintiff.

V. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT I: 42 USC § 1983 -- DEPRIVATION OF SUBSTANTIVE DUE PROCESS (Fourteenth Amendment) -- Against Defendant McNeill

35. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 34 above.
36. The parent-child relationship is a fundamental liberty interest protected by the Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause. Troxel v Granville, 530 US 57, 65 (2000); Santosky v Kramer, 455 US 745, 753 (1982); Stanley v Illinois, 405 US 645, 651 (1972).
37. Defendant McNeill, acting under color of state law, deprived Plaintiff of his fundamental liberty interest in the care, custody, and companionship of L.D.W.

by:

- (a) Entering 24 of 55 orders (44%) on an ex parte basis without notice;
 - (b) Entering five ex parte orders on a single day (August 8, 2025);
 - (c) Completely severing Plaintiff's parenting time for 571+ consecutive days;
 - (d) Entering the August 23, 2024 Final Judgment without an evidentiary hearing;
 - (e) Dismissing six of Plaintiff's pending motions without adjudication.
38. Defendant McNeill's actions were not narrowly tailored to serve any compelling government interest. Less restrictive alternatives -- including supervised parenting time, therapeutic reunification, and modified schedules -- were available but not considered.
39. Defendant McNeill's conduct was so arbitrary, conscience-shocking, and oppressive as to violate substantive due process. County of Sacramento v Lewis, 523 US 833, 846 (1998).
40. Plaintiff's claims against Defendant McNeill are not barred by judicial immunity because:
- (a) Certain of Defendant McNeill's actions -- including the entry of five ex parte orders on a single day without any showing of emergency, and the systematic exclusion of Plaintiff from proceedings -- constitute non-judicial acts in character, even though taken from the bench;
 - (b) Alternatively, Defendant McNeill acted in the clear absence of all jurisdiction when she effectively terminated Plaintiff's parental rights through ex parte orders without complying with any of the constitutional procedures required for such a drastic deprivation;
 - (c) Plaintiff seeks prospective injunctive and declaratory relief, which is not barred by judicial immunity under Pulliam v Allen, 466 US 522 (1984), as modified by the Federal Courts Improvement Act.

COUNT II: 42 USC § 1983 -- DEPRIVATION OF PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS (Fourteenth Amendment) -- Against Defendant McNeill

41. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 40 above.
42. The Fourteenth Amendment's Due Process Clause guarantees that no person shall be deprived of a protected liberty interest without due process of law. Cleveland Bd of Ed v Loudermill, 470 US 532 (1985).
43. Under the Mathews v Eldridge balancing test, 424 US 319, 335 (1976):
 - (a) Private interest: Plaintiff's fundamental liberty interest in the parent-child relationship is among the weightiest interests recognized in constitutional law;
 - (b) Risk of erroneous deprivation: The procedures used -- ex parte orders without notice, without sworn testimony, without cross-examination, and without particularized findings -- created an exceptionally high risk of erroneous deprivation;
 - (c) Government interest: The state's legitimate interest in child welfare is served by fair proceedings, not summary ones.
44. Defendant McNeill denied Plaintiff procedural due process by:
 - (a) Entering ex parte orders without the verified showing of immediate and irreparable injury required by MCR 3.207(C)(2);
 - (b) Failing to provide notice before entering orders that deprived Plaintiff of fundamental rights;
 - (c) Failing to conduct evidentiary hearings before entering substantive custody orders;
 - (d) Dismissing six of Plaintiff's pending motions without hearing;
 - (e) Denying Plaintiff the opportunity to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and be heard on matters affecting his parental rights.

COUNT III: 42 USC § 1983 -- EQUAL PROTECTION (Fourteenth Amendment)
-- Against Defendant McNeill

45. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 44 above.
46. The Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause prohibits the state from treating similarly situated individuals differently without adequate justification.
47. Defendant McNeill treated Plaintiff -- a pro se father -- materially differently from Defendant Watson -- a represented mother -- in the same proceedings:

- (a) Plaintiff's motions were systematically denied; Watson's were systematically granted;
- (b) Watson's unsworn allegations were credited at face value; Plaintiff's documentary evidence was excluded or disregarded;
- (c) Watson was granted ex parte relief without meeting legal standards; Plaintiff was denied relief even when legal standards were met;
- (d) Watson's custody time was expanded; Plaintiff's was eliminated entirely.

48. This disparate treatment was not rationally related to any legitimate government interest.

49. To the extent this disparate treatment was based on Plaintiff's gender (father vs. mother) or status (pro se vs. represented), it is subject to intermediate or heightened scrutiny and fails under any level of review.

COUNT IV: 42 USC § 1985(3) -- CONSPIRACY TO DEPRIVE OF CIVIL RIGHTS -- Against All Defendants

50. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 49 above.

51. 42 USC § 1985(3) provides a cause of action against two or more persons who conspire to deprive any person of the equal protection of the laws or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws.

52. Defendants McNeill, Watson, and Barnes conspired to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights under the Fourteenth Amendment through the coordinated conduct described in paragraphs 31-32 above.

53. The conspiracy was motivated by invidiously discriminatory animus -- specifically, bias against Plaintiff as a pro se father and/or gender-based discrimination favoring the mother in custody proceedings.

54. In furtherance of the conspiracy:

- (a) Defendant Watson filed false allegations and false CPS reports to create a pretext for ex parte orders;
- (b) Defendant Barnes drafted and filed ex parte motions that did not meet legal standards, with the expectation they would be rubber-stamped by Defendant McNeill;
- (c) Defendant McNeill granted deficient ex parte motions, entered orders without notice, and systematically excluded Plaintiff from the proceedings;
- (d) The FOC recommended or implemented orders aligned with the conspiratorial objective of excluding Plaintiff.

55. As a direct and proximate result of this conspiracy, Plaintiff has been deprived of all contact with his daughter for 571+ days and has suffered the damages described in the Prayer for Relief below.

COUNT V: 42 USC § 1986 -- FAILURE TO PREVENT CONSPIRACY -- Against Defendant County and FOC

56. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 55 above.

57. 42 USC § 1986 provides a cause of action against any person who, having knowledge that a conspiracy described in § 1985 is about to be committed, and having power to prevent it, neglects or refuses to do so.

58. Defendant County and the FOC had knowledge of the pattern of constitutional violations -- through the public court record, Father's motions, and the statistical evidence of the 44% ex parte rate -- and had the power to intervene through administrative oversight, policy implementation, or judicial reassignment.

59. Defendant County and the FOC neglected and refused to prevent the ongoing conspiracy, thereby facilitating the continued deprivation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

COUNT VI: MONELL LIABILITY -- Against Defendant Muskegon County

60. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 59 above.

61. Under Monell v Dep't of Social Services, 436 US 658 (1978), a municipal entity may be liable under § 1983 when the execution of its policy or custom inflicts the constitutional injury.
62. Muskegon County maintained policies, customs, or practices that were the moving force behind the constitutional violations suffered by Plaintiff:
- (a) A custom or practice of permitting excessive ex parte orders in family court without adequate safeguards or oversight;
 - (b) A custom or practice of not requiring evidentiary hearings before orders that completely sever parenting time;
 - (c) Deliberate indifference to the training and supervision of family court judges regarding due process requirements;
 - (d) A policy or custom of not providing meaningful oversight or complaint mechanisms for pro se litigants facing judicial misconduct.
63. These policies, customs, or practices were the moving force behind the deprivation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

COUNT VII: 42 USC § 1983 -- FIRST AMENDMENT RETALIATION (Right to Petition) -- Against Defendant McNeill

64. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 63 above.
65. The First Amendment to the United States Constitution, applicable to the States through the Fourteenth Amendment, protects the right to petition the government for redress of grievances, including the right of access to the courts. BE&K Construction Co v NLRB, 536 US 516, 525 (2002); California Motor Transport Co v Trucking Unlimited, 404 US 508, 510 (1972).
66. Plaintiff engaged in constitutionally protected activity by:
- (a) Filing a Complaint for Custody, Parenting Time, and Child Support (April 1, 2024);

- (b) Filing six (6) motions asserting his legal rights in the custody proceedings;
- (c) Filing a Motion for Disqualification of Defendant McNeill under MCR 2.003(C)(1);
- (d) Filing objections to ex parte orders and asserting constitutional rights;
- (e) Filing a complaint with the Michigan Supreme Court (October 29, 2025);
- (f) Pursuing appellate remedies through the Michigan Court of Appeals and Supreme Court.

67. Defendant McNeill took adverse action against Plaintiff in retaliation for his exercise of First Amendment rights:

- (a) After Plaintiff filed his custody complaint, Defendant McNeill entered an ex parte order (April 29, 2024) restricting his rights without notice;
- (b) After Plaintiff filed six motions, Defendant McNeill dismissed all six without hearing in the August 23, 2024 Final Judgment;
- (c) After Plaintiff filed his disqualification motion, Defendant McNeill denied it and intensified adverse rulings;
- (d) After Plaintiff objected to the ex parte suspension, Defendant McNeill continued the suspension (September 9, 2025; October 8, 2025; November 26, 2025);
- (e) The escalating pattern of adverse orders corresponds temporally with each of Plaintiff's protected filings.

68. There is a causal connection between Plaintiff's protected activity and Defendant McNeill's adverse actions:

- (a) Temporal proximity: Adverse orders followed Plaintiff's protected filings within days;
- (b) Pattern evidence: The escalation of restrictions correlated with each filing by Plaintiff;
- (c) Discriminatory animus: The systematic denial of Plaintiff's motions while granting Defendant Watson's motions demonstrates retaliatory motive;
- (d) Blanket dismissal: Dismissing six motions simultaneously without adjudication is inconsistent with legitimate judicial function and indicative of punitive purpose.

69. Under the Mt. Healthy test (Mt. Healthy City School Dist Bd of Ed v Doyle, 429 US 274 (1977)):

- (a) Plaintiff's protected activity was a substantial or motivating factor in Defendant McNeill's adverse actions;
 - (b) Defendants cannot demonstrate that the same adverse actions would have occurred absent Plaintiff's exercise of his First Amendment rights.
70. Plaintiff's First Amendment retaliation claim is supported by the SOL audit confirming 1,090+ days remaining on this count (see SOL Audit ID 25: "42 USC §1983 -- First Amendment (Petition)," expiring 2029-02-27, risk level GREEN).

COUNT VIII: ENHANCED QUALIFIED IMMUNITY DEFEAT -- Against All Individual-Capacity Defendants

71. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

A. Clearly Established Law -- Substantive Due Process

72. By 2023-2025, it was clearly established that:
- (a) A parent has a fundamental liberty interest in the care, custody, and companionship of his or her child. Troxel v Granville, 530 US 57, 65 (2000); Santosky v Kramer, 455 US 745 (1982); Lassiter v Department of Social Services, 452 US 18 (1981).
 - (b) The state may not sever or significantly curtail parenting time without constitutionally adequate process. Stanley v Illinois, 405 US 645 (1972); M.L.B. v S.L.J., 519 US 102 (1996).
 - (c) The complete termination of all contact between parent and child for an extended period -- 571+ days -- is the functional equivalent of a termination of parental rights. In re Sanders, 495 Mich 394 (2014) (Michigan); Santosky, 455 US at 759 (federal).
 - (d) No reasonable official could believe that eliminating all parent-child contact for over 571 days through ex parte orders -- without an evidentiary hearing, without sworn testimony, and without compliance with MCR 3.207(C)(2) -- was constitutionally permissible.

B. Clearly Established Law -- Procedural Due Process

73. By 2023-2025, it was clearly established that:

- (a) Due process requires notice and an opportunity to be heard before deprivation of a protected liberty interest. Mathews v Eldridge, 424 US 319 (1976); Mullane v Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co, 339 US 306 (1950).
- (b) Ex parte relief is an extraordinary remedy requiring a showing of immediate and irreparable injury. Granny Goose Foods, Inc v Brotherhood of Teamsters, 415 US 423, 438-39 (1974).
- (c) Entering 24 of 55 orders (44%) without notice violates even the most minimal due process requirements.
- (d) No reasonable official could conclude that a 44% ex parte rate -- with five orders on a single day -- comported with constitutional norms.

C. Clearly Established Law -- Equal Protection

74. By 2023-2025, it was clearly established that:

- (a) The Equal Protection Clause prohibits treating similarly situated litigants differently without rational basis. Village of Willowbrook v Olech, 528 US 562 (2000) (class-of-one theory).
- (b) Gender-based discrimination in custody proceedings is subject to intermediate scrutiny. Craig v Boren, 429 US 190 (1976); United States v Virginia, 518 US 515 (1996).
- (c) Discrimination against pro se litigants, while not a suspect classification, may form the basis of an equal protection claim where the disparity is irrational.

D. Clearly Established Law -- First Amendment Right to Petition

75. By 2023-2025, it was clearly established that:

- (a) Government officials may not retaliate against individuals for exercising their First Amendment right to petition, including filing lawsuits and motions. BE&K Construction Co v NLRB, 536 US 516 (2002).
- (b) A pattern of adverse actions following protected filings establishes a prima facie case of retaliation. Thaddeus-X v Blatter, 175 F.3d 378 (6th Cir 1999) (en banc).
- (c) The Sixth Circuit has specifically held that retaliation for filing court motions violates the First Amendment. Id. at 394.

E. Application -- No Reasonable Official Defense

76. Under the totality of the circumstances, no reasonable official in the position of any individual-capacity Defendant could have believed:
- (a) That entering 44% of all orders without notice was constitutionally permissible;
 - (b) That eliminating all parent-child contact for 571+ days without an evidentiary hearing was lawful;
 - (c) That dismissing six pending motions without adjudication comported with due process;
 - (d) That retaliating against a litigant for filing motions was protected conduct;
 - (e) That the asymmetric treatment of similarly situated parties was rational.
77. Accordingly, qualified immunity does not shield any individual-capacity Defendant from liability for the constitutional violations alleged herein.

VIII. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Andrew J. Pigors respectfully prays that this Court enter judgment in his favor and against Defendants, as follows:

A. Declaratory Relief

78. A declaration that Defendants violated Plaintiff's rights under the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, including his fundamental liberty interest in the care, custody, and companionship of his daughter, his right to procedural due process, and his right to equal protection of the laws.
79. A declaration that the pattern of 44% ex parte orders, without notice and without constitutionally adequate process, constitutes a structural due process violation.

B. Injunctive Relief

80. An injunction directing Defendant McNeill to recuse herself from all further proceedings involving Plaintiff in Cases No. 2024-001507-DC and 2023-5907-PP.
81. An injunction directing Defendant County to implement policies and training to prevent the recurrence of the constitutional violations documented herein.
82. An injunction restoring Plaintiff's parenting time with L.D.W. pending a constitutionally adequate hearing before a different judicial officer.

C. Compensatory Damages

83. Compensatory damages against all Defendants, jointly and severally, for:
 - (a) Loss of companionship with L.D.W. for 571+ days;
 - (b) Emotional distress and mental anguish;
 - (c) Damage to the parent-child bond;
 - (d) Lost income and economic harm;
 - (e) Legal costs incurred in challenging unconstitutional orders;
 - in an amount to be determined at trial, but estimated at not less than $500,000.

D. Punitive Damages

84. Punitive damages against Defendants McNeill, Watson, and Barnes in their individual capacities, in an amount sufficient to punish the willful and malicious deprivation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights and to deter similar conduct, estimated at not less than $1,000,000.

E. Nominal Damages

85. Nominal damages of $1.00 against each Defendant for each proven constitutional violation, to vindicate Plaintiff's rights even if compensatory damages cannot be precisely calculated.

F. Attorney's Fees and Costs

86. Reasonable attorney's fees (or pro se equivalent fees where permitted) under 42 USC § 1988.

87. Costs of suit under 28 USC § 1920.

G. Other Relief

88. Such other and further relief as this Court deems just and equitable.

IX. JURY TRIAL DEMAND

89. Plaintiff demands a trial by jury on all issues triable of right pursuant to the Seventh Amendment to the United States Constitution and Fed R Civ P 38(b).

X. VERIFICATION

I, Andrew J. Pigors, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing factual allegations are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry.
