

parties separated. It is unclear as to why Plaintiff/Father has decided to choose a different childcare arrangement for the minor child. Plaintiff/Father is not working so the Court questions why Plaintiff/Father needs childcare for the child. The Court finds that the minor child has a strong bond with Defendant's/Mother's family. This Factor favors Defendant/Mother.

i. The reasonable preferences of the child, if the court deems the child to be of sufficient age to express preference.

The Court finds that the minor child is of insufficient age to express a preference. This factor is not applicable.

j. The willingness and ability of each of the parties involved to facilitate and encourage a close and continuing parent-child relationship between the child and the other parent.

This factor is significant to the Court. The Court questioned Plaintiff/Father as to whether he facilitates a close relationship between the minor child and Defendant/Mother. Plaintiff's/Father's response was that he does not discourage it, which means to the Court that he does not encourage it. Plaintiff/Father also complained about the minor child saying "momma." It is significant to the Court that Plaintiff/Father calls multiple police departments in the same day to raise issues against Defendant/Mother. Plaintiff/Father demands information from Defendant/Mother, in the AppClose transcript, that he has no right to question. Plaintiff/Father clearly gets frustrated when he does not get the answer he wants. Plaintiff/Father believes that it is his way or the highway, which is also evidenced by the multiple Motions he has filed throughout the course of this case and for which the Court has instructed him the Motions were frivolous and not to file any additional frivolous Motions.
